CONTENTS OF VOLUME XIV

Number 1, January, 1955

The Role of Neuropathology in Modern Anthropology. An Introduction to the Symposium on New Techniques. Clemens E. Benda, Waverly, Mass. 1

The Phosphatases of the Nervous System. Irwin Feigin, M.D., and Abner Wolf, M.D., New York, N. Y. 11

Cholinesterases of the Central Nervous System. George B. Koelle, M.D., Philadelphia, Pa. 23

Dynamic Neuropathology. C. M. Pomerat, Ph.D., Galveston, Texas 28

Application of Quantitative Histochemical Methods to the Study of the Nervous System. Alfred Pope, M.D., Boston, Mass. 39

Oxidases and Peroxidases of the Central Nervous System. Leon Roizin, M.D., New York, N. Y. 47

Quantitation of Phosphorus Compounds in the Normal and Pathologic Human Brain. Maynard M. Cohen, M.D., Minneapolis, Minn. 70

Transventricular Adhesions in Association with Birth Injury of the Caudate Nucleus. R. M. Norman, M.D., Bristol, England, and W. H. McMenemey, M.D., London, England 84

Stereotaxic Displacement of Portions of the Choroid Plexus in the Rhesus Monkey. Fred A. Mettler, M.D., Malcolm B. Carpenter, M.D., New York, N. Y., and Raul M. Carrera, M.D., Buenos Aires, Argentina 92

Fat Formation and Foam Cells Following Injection of Brain Tissue into the Cornea. David G. Cogan, M.D., and Toichiro Kuwabara, M.D., Boston, Mass. 95

American Association of Neuropathologists, Annual Meeting, Atlantic City, N. J., June 13, 1954 108

Announcement 113

Number 2, April, 1955

The Experimental Anatomophysiologic Approach to the Study of Diseases of the Basal Ganglia. Fred A. Mettler, M.D., Ph.D., Sc.D., New York, N. Y. 115

Cytology and Cellular Pathology of the Oligodendrogliomas of the Brain. J. R. Ravens, M.D., L. L. Adamkiewicz, M.D., and R. Groff, M.D., Philadelphia, Pa. 142

Focal Symmetrical Poliomalacia of Sheep in Kenya. J. R. M. Innes, Sc.D., Ph.D., and W. Plowright, M.R.C.V.D., Kabete, Kenya 185

Seizure Patterns Induced by Electrical Stimulation of Hippocampal Formation in the Cat. Orlando J. Andy, M.D., and Konrad Akert, M.D., Baltimore, Md. 198

Intraspinal Teratoma, with Report of a Case. Eileen S. Harrington, M.D., and Joseph F. Kell, Jr., M.D., Richmond, Va. 214

Number 3, July, 1955

Compression of Brain Arteries as Pathogenetic Factor for Tissue Necroses and their Areas of Predilection. Richard Lindenberg, M.D., Baltimore, Md. ... 223

Congenital Hydrocephalus due to Atresia of the Foramen of Magendie. James B. Gibson, M.D., Belfast, North Ireland 244

Spontaneous Arachnoidal Dissemination of Spongioblastoma Multiforme. Abe Towbin, M.D., and George E. Bell, M.D., Columbus, Ohio 263

Compression of the Spinal Cord by Extramedullary Neoplasms. Howard J. McAlhany, M.D., and Martin G. Netsky, M.D., New York, N. Y. 276

Histoplasmosis of the Central Nervous System. A Case Report of Histoplasma Meningitis. Bertram E. Sprofkin, M.D., John L. Shapiro, M.D., and James J. Lux, M.D., Nashville, Tennessee 288
Pathology of Poliomyelitis Treated in Respirator. K. Scharenberg, M.D., Ann Arbor, Michigan 297
A Method of Replacing Portions of the Calvarium with Transparent Plastic. George P. Bogumill, M.S., and Paul H. Settlage, Ph.D., M.D., Madison, Wisc. 305
A Case of Symmetrical Muscular Contracture Due to Sarcoidosis. Mette Warburg, M.D., Copenhagen, Denmark 313
Developmental Anomalies of the Horns of the Lateral Ventricles. John I. Bates, M.D., and Martin G. Netsky, M.D., New York, N. Y. 316
An Adaptable Head Holder for Experimental Cranial Surgery. Findlay E. Russell, M.D., and Robert H. Pudenz, M.D., Pasadena, California 326
Book Reviews 329

Number 4, October, 1955

The Status Verrucosus of the Cerebral Cortex. Ivan Bertrand, M.D., and Jean Gruner, M.D., Paris, France 331
The Importance of Endothelial and Fibroblastic Cell Proliferation in Arteriosclerotic Occlusion of Cerebral Arteries. Walter L. Bruetsch, M.D., Indianapolis, Indiana 348
Application of the Field Theory to Gliomata. L. van der Horst, M.D., Amsterdam, Holland 369
Progressive Muscular Dystrophy with Extensive Demyelination of the Brain. George A. Jervis, M.D., Thiells, N. Y. 376
The Effect of Adenosinetriphosphate in Nervous System Anoxia. Albert A. Kaufman, M.D., and Kenneth A. Blinn, M.D., Long Beach, California 387
Progressive Familial Ataxia. Clinical Study of Two Brothers with One Autopsy. Meta A. Neumann, M.S., Washington, D. C., and Robert Cohn, M.D., Bethesda, Md. 398
A Clinico-Pathologic Report of an Acute Familial Encephalopathy in the Newborn Infant. Charles F. Barlow, M.D., Chicago, Illinois 413
Perineuronal Satellite Cells in the Motor Cortex of Aging Brains. Robert H. Brownson, Ph.D., Los Angeles, California 424
The Induction of the Lesions of Allergic Meningoencephalomyelitis in a Predetermined Location. George Clark, Ph.D., and Lasca H. Bogdanove, M.S., Buffalo, N. Y. 433
Experimental Cerebellopontine Angle Tumors with Angiographic Study. Stanley Stellar, M.D., and Irving S. Cooper, M.D., New York, N. Y. 438
Hydrocephalus Associated with Choroid Plexus Papillomas. Joseph F. Smith, M.R.C.P., Cincinnati, Ohio 442
Book Reviews 450
Index 453